They Had Names: Liberty County, Georgia Estate Inventories 1850-1865

PROJECT INFORMATION

They Had Names is an award-winning digital humanities project dedicated to uncovering, preserving, and sharing information about the lives of enslaved and formerly enslaved people in coastal Georgia Liberty and Bryan Counties.

Drawing on probate records, court cases, deeds, church records, and other archival sources, the project makes these histories accessible through searchable abstracts and transcriptions, indexes, and interpretive essays.

By using digital tools to recover individual names and stories, They Had Names bridges archival research and public history, ensuring that voices often omitted from the historical record are visible to descendants, researchers, and the wider community.

Whether you're a descendant searching for family connections or a historian studying this community, They Had Names provides the tools to piece together lives that might otherwise remain hidden. Every name tells a story, and every person deserves to be remembered as an individual, not as property. The project includes abstracts or transcripts of every will, estate inventory and deed record naming enslaved people between 1786 and 1865, as well as many other types of records.

They Had Names started as a Wordpress.com blog, then transitioned in 2018 into a full website: https://theyhadnames.net/. It was created by Stacy Ashmore Cole, a descendant of an enslaving family of Liberty County, Georgia. Cathy Tarpley Dillon served as a dedicated transcription volunteer during 2019-2022. As of 2025, it included more than 40,000 references to named African Americans, enslaved and free.

In 2025, Stacy began assembling the data into free, downloadable books and articles to ensure its availability to future generations. That project includes this ebook.

INTRODUCTION

This is a review of how estate inventories were created in Liberty County and their genealogical value. It is not intended in any way to distract from the fact that pre-Emancipation Liberty County estate inventories were horrific documents, listing living people as property and assigning them a monetary value. It is difficult to read these documents today without being overwhelmed by the human suffering they represent. The only purpose of discussing and abstracting them here is to aid their descendants in finding them and remembering that "they had names."

In the 1750s, a group several hundred European-descended South Carolina planters took advantage of Georgia's abolishment of its laws against slavery to settle in what is now Liberty County, on the Georgia coast. They brought with them an estimated 1000-1500 enslaved people of African descent, whom they used to construct and operate rice and other plantations.

Ironically, given that the majority of this area's population from that time through the Civil War was comprised of enslaved people, the area was given the name Liberty County after the American Revolution because the European-descended planters had been so enthusiastic in their support of the Revolution.

Estate inventories were required for anyone who died owning property, with or without a will. Once a property-owning individual died, his or her executor (if a will naming an executor existed) or administrator (if no will) applied to the courts for letters testamentary to enable that person to secure and administer the estate. As part of this process, the court would name individuals to appraise the property and prepare the inventory. In Liberty County, at least, these were normally property-owning neighbors of the deceased, who were likely to be able to estimate the value of the deceased's property, since it was similar to their own.

An initial estate inventory would usually be filed in the Court of Ordinary (now known as probate court) within a few months of the death. After the estate was wound up, the property left in the estate after payment of debts and bills, etc, would be divided among the heirs, whether the heirs were specified in a will or mandated according to the law if the deceased died intestate (without a will).

If all the heirs were adults, the estate would be re-inventoried and then divided among them. If there were underage heirs, the estate would be re-inventoried and divided among the adult heirs, with a portion set aside for the underage heir(s). When each underage heir reached the age of majority, the estate would be re-inventoried and divided again, with part going to the now-adult heir and a portion kept for any remaining underage heirs.

The estate would be divided into portions, or “lots,” that were as equal in value as possible. In Liberty County, lot numbers were normally drawn by the heirs out of a hat. The heirs would pay each other, or be paid, if they received a lot that was under or over the average value.

Each of these inventories and divisions was documented in a court record.

Enslaved people were considered chattel property, with “chattel” referring to “movable” property, as opposed to real estate. Estate inventories normally included only chattel property, although sometimes land would be listed.

For those attempting to find their ancestors among this enslaved population, estate inventories are invaluable records. Wills usually named only the enslaved people who were the subjects of special bequests or “favor,” such as manumission. Bills of sale, deeds of gift, and other such deed records might or might not have been recorded in the court system. Though those recorded deeds survive, most of the unrecorded ones do not. Estate inventories were part of a legal process and thus were always recorded.

Estate inventories sometimes just listed enslaved individuals’ names and “values.” Even with these minimalist documents, however, clues often stand out. Look for women’s names followed by names assigned lesser values in descending order. These may be families with children listed in age order. These can only be clues in cases where the relationship was not specified, but these clues may spark other confirming research.

The 1863 estate inventory for Bartholomew Busby is an example of this. In this image, Margaret was valued at $1000. Augustus, Abram, and George followed her in the list in descending order by value. Tenah was next at $1000, followed by Joe, Peggy and Judy in descending order by value. Robin then followed at $1100. From other research, it is known that Augustus, Abram and George were Margaret’s children, although this is not stated in the inventory. It is possible also that Joe, Peggy and Judy were Tenah’s children. This positioning in the estate inventory is a cue for further reseseach.

The list of names of the enslaved people is in exactly the same order as in the original inventory. This makes it possible to look for instances of families being listed in age order.

Other estate inventories may name relationships, especially mother/child or husband/wife. (Although enslaved people were not legally permitted to marry, there were extralegal marriages recognized by the enslavers and enslaved husbands and wives would be described as such in the enslavers' probate documents.) Ages and occupations were also sometimes listed.

If an estate took years to be wound up because there were multiple underage heirs, comparing these documents across time will often indicate deaths or possible sales as people "disappear" from the records.

The estate inventories listed in this book are in date order. There are usually two dates listed: the date the appraisers took their oaths before a court official and the date the inventory was recorded in the Court of Ordinary. Only the enslaved people named in the inventory are listed, not any other "property." To find what else was listed in the inventory, see the citation at the end of each inventory. It has a link to the digitized document on FamilySearch.org. (FamilySearch.org is a genealogical website. To use it, you will need to create an account, but both the account and all the information on the website are free.)

In order to facilitate including these inventories in a database, they were created with a standardized header with field names for each piece of information commonly found within. Note especially whether an "administrator" or an "executor" were named. If an "executor" is named, the deceased left a will. The "notes" field includes any out-of-the-ordinary remarks made within the inventory.

The end of this book includes an index of the enslaver names. Why not an index of the enslaved people? Because only first names are included in the inventories, and the spelling of those names varies across inventories, devising an index for them was problematic. Fortunately, an index substitute exists. While compiling these inventories, I created a spreadsheet with the names of the enslaved people and their enslaver's name and donated it to Enslaved.org's Journal for Slavery and Data Preservation. You may found the spreadsheet here: https://dataverse.harvard.edu/dataset.xhtml?persistentId=doi:10.7910/DVN/03HR2N. This permanent link will give you the opportunity to download both the spreadsheet and a description of the data.

To use this spreadsheet as an index, open it in a spreadsheet program (like Excel) and sort it by either Column I (actual name of the enslaved person as listed in the original inventory) or Column H (a standardized version of the names to facilitate sorting). This will show you every instance of, for example, Aaron, as the name of an enslaved person. Note the names of enslavers who held individuals by that name in slavery, and look for those names in this book's index to see the estate inventories to evaluate whether this might have been your ancestor (in conjunction with other evidence, of course).

You can also search this book when viewing it on a computer by typing Ctrl-f, which will open a search bar. Enter the name you are searching for, and press Enter. Alternative spellings have been included in the records to facilitate searching.

Witness our hands this seventh day of June 1852." Witnessed by Mary Jones and Elizabeth Maxwell.

Comments: "The following is an appraisement and division of the property belonging to the children of Elitia Smith contained in a deed of trust to John S. Andrews." "The 24 head of cattle left out of the above division and by agreement of all parties given to Elitia Smith in consideration of an alleged claim made on said property in consequence of the death of two children named in said deed."
"John S. Andrews trustee of N. J. Smith, minor Lot No. 1."
"John R. Shave, Lot No 2." [NOTE: Husband of Smith's daughter Mary J.E. Smith]
"Wm [William] R. Baggs, Lot No 3." [NOTE: Husband of Smith's daughter Sarah Smith]

[NOTE: A deed dated the same day as this inventory was found in Deed Book O, page 455:

"Georgia, Liberty County } Know all men by these presents that I have this day received of John S. Andrews Esq Twenty four head of Stock cattle of the value of one hundred and twenty dollars in full payment of whatsoever claim right title and interest to the property formerly conveyed by me to Mr. John S. Andrews as trustee for my children which may exist in consequence of the death of two children named in said deed, which may in law be considered as reverting to me. Also the sum of twenty five dollars in full payment of any claim right title and interest which may be considered as reverting or accrueing to me under Deed of Trust to Edward Q. Andrews for Mary E. Smith and children as appertaining to the Goulding pine land Tract. This 18th December 1858. Attest: Joseph Ashmore, William S. Norman, Not. Pub. S.C. [Signed] Elisha Smith. Recorded this 24th Jany 1859. S.A. Fraser, Clerk." See: https://www.familysearch.org/ark:/61903/3:1:3Q9M-C3QP-RSYW-3?i=274&cat=292358]

Both documents appear to be referring to a deed of trust executed in 1845 by Elisha Smith in which he transferred to his brother-in-law John S. Andrews "certain property to wit one negro man named Jim a negro woman named Miley and her two children Betty and Abner...in trust for the benefit of the children of the said Smith to wit Nathaniel, Mary, Sarah, Jennet, and Almara [alt: Elmira] Smith." Apparently two of Smith's children had died by 1858. The enslaved man Jim was sold by John S. Andrews to William G. Martin and Lafayette S. Andrews in trust for Ann Jane Way and her husband Moses W. Way. Liberty County Estate Inventory & Division

Thomas Mallard - 1861-10-08

Location: Liberty County, Georgia
Deceased: Mallard, Thomas
Date Sworn: 1861-10-08
Appraisers: Simon A. Fraser, W.Q. Baker, P.W. Fleming
Estate Executor: Thomas S. Mallard
Court Officer: John B. Mallard, J.I.C.L.C.
Sworn before: Abial Winn, E.J. Delegal, and L.L. Varnedoe, Not. Pub.
Date Recorded: 1862-01-04
Total Value of Property Appraised: $56632.20
Value of enslaved persons: $55025.00
Comments: On 2 September 1861, Simon A. Fraser, W.Q. Baker, P.W. Fleming, Abial Winn and E.J. Delegal were authorized to conduct an inventory and appraisal of the goods and chattels of Thomas Mallard's estate. The five of them swore on 8 October 1861 before John B. Mallard that they would conduct such an inventory, and on 9 October 1861 presented the inventory, which was recorded by W.P. Girardeau, the Liberty County Ordinary, on 4 January 1862. The inventory included 125 enslaved persons with a total value of $55025.00. On 17 December 1861, W.Q. Baker, P.W. Fleming, S.A. Fraser, E.J. Delegal and Valentine Grest were authorized to make an appraisement and division & distribution of Thomas Mallard's estate. [Note that Abial Winn is missing this time, and Valentine Grest has taken his place.] The 2d appraisal included 115 enslaved people for a total value of $47200.00.

The following people were listed in the 1st appraisal but not the 2d. The ones with an asterisk by their names were named in Thomas Mallard's will: Bob, Windsor*, Willoughby*, James*, Pompey*, Henrietta*, Peggy, Joe, Daniel*, Tirah (or Tyrah), Drusilla, Ellen, Mary*, Hurcules*, Stepney*. The valuation of two individuals changed between the two appraisals: Abram, from $750 to $600, and Edward, from $600 to $550. In addition, Bartholomew was listed in the estate division, but not in either of the appraisals. There were also two unnamed infants listed in the 1st appraisal, but in the 2d appraisal one was still listed as “infant” and the second was now listed as Mary, an infant. Mary is listed in the division, and there is also a 3d infant now listed in the division (perhaps a newborn?).

Also note that there are two Bob's, both valued at $750, listed in both appraisals. One is said to be 25 years old; the age of the other is not listed. However, only one Bob is listed in the division, in lot 5, so it is impossible to know which Bob that was.

During the division, the estate was divided into 10 lots, and money was exchanged among the heirs to make each lot come out equal in value. The following list has the names of the winners of each lot:

Lot 1 was drawn by L.L. Varnedoe (value $4775)
Lot 2 was drawn for Miss Louisa Mallard (value $4550)
Lot 3 was drawn by John B. Mallard (value $4800)
Lot 4 was drawn for the estate of C. S. Mallard (value $4675)
Lot 5 was drawn for Mrs. R.E. Mallard (heirs of Mrs. Rebeca E. Mallard) (value $4850)
Lot 6 was drawn by L.J. Mallard (value $4725)
Lot 7 was drawn by B.A. Busby (value$4700)
Lot 8 was drawn by Thomas J. Mallard (value $4650)
Lot 9 was drawn by Rev'd R.Q. Mallard (value $4750)
Lot 10 was drawn for Mrs. Harriet Bacon ($4720)

The list of enslaved persons below has all the individuals named in the appraisals, together with a number indicating which lot they went into. Names highlighted were named in the will; highlighted boxes in the "Lots" column represent people who were not named in the division.
